

RING LARDNER TAKES A CHAIR AT CHIEF'S TRIAL

Being Remarks on Captains
Courageous from the Police Smart Set.

BY RING W. LARDNER.

Chicago society thronged Justice Harry Olson's court yesterday, attracted by promised sensational developments in the trial of Chief of Police Gus Healey, or whatever his name is, who is charged with an unmentionable crime, that is, the crime wasn't mentioned while I was there.

The courtroom was crowded with fashionably gowned police captains, and the word crowded is used advisedly. It only one of them had been there the word crowded could have been used just as advisedly.

Occupying front row seats were Capt. Stanislaus Madden of the exclusive Englewood district, Capt. Hous Alcock of the exclusive Woodlawn district, Capt. Mose Meagher of the particularly exclusive Cottage Grove avenue district, Capt. Joseph Smith, who recently moved from the ultra fashionable Twenty-second street district, Capt. Tony Coughlin of the highly seasoned stockyards district, and Capt. O'Toole, Cronin, Healy, Westbrook, and Collins, who have been prominent for years in social activities along the fashionable north shore of the Chicago river.

That Vice-Regal Blue.

Capt. Meagher wore a tailored blue suit adorned with gold buttons down the front and two gold stars on each side of his tailored collar. Capt. Collins wore blue over white B. V. D's. It was evident from these costumes of most of the others that blue is to be the prevailing color this fall.

I reached the ninth floor of the city hall at 10 o'clock. The main door to the courtroom was closed. I rapped. A man named Smart Alcock opened the door.

"I'm a reporter for THE TRIBUNE," I said.

He closed the door.

I tried another door.

"I'm a reporter," I said, deciding it was advisable to keep the paper's name a secret.

No more people are to be allowed in," was the response.

"I'm not a person; I'm a reporter," I said.

Bang!

I tackled the justice's private office.

"I'll take your word for it," the justice said in charge replied to my statement of fact. "If you can, find a seat you're welcome to it."

Gets a Ringed Seat.

So I found a seat at the photographer's table. The session of the trial, which is second in interest and excitement only to the Orpet case, had already started. Capt. O'Brien, the only eyewitness of the case, was on the stand. He was being examined by State's Attorney Berger.

It was brought out that no one concerned knew how to pronounce Beaux Arts or Elite.

"Capt. O'Brien," said Mr. Berger, "you refer in one of these letters to the 'dog dance.' Will you please describe that dance?"

The captain was unprepared, though a full description of it, with music, may be obtained at any 6 and 10 cent store.

Attorney Berger introduced into evidence a score of letters tending to show that the defendant and the murdered girl were introduced at the junior hop in 1915.

A Rectangular Mystery.

A mysteriously sealed box was lying on the table before the bench.

"They're going to open that today," a photographer whispered.

"I never eat fudge," was my bantering reply.

"That box doesn't contain candy. It contains absolute duces tecum (take this with you) evidence that the defendant did not leave the bank at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the crime, as alleged."

Another Healy, leading lawyer for the defense, took the witness.

"Captain," he asked, "what was the matter with your team in the Carleton game?"

"Let me tell you about that," replied the witness, but before he could go further Mr. Berger was on his feet with an objection.

The photographer on my right leaned over.

"From what you've heard so far," he said, "do you think the state will ask for the extreme penalty?"

"I don't know," says I. "I suspect, though, that it will be unnecessary. Before the trial is half over everybody will be bored to death."

Lead Sleeping Verbotten.

The cross examination went on, thrilling, succeeding thrill. Frequently Justice Olson rapped vigorously on his desk for order. On one occasion he leaped to his feet in rage.

"The next person who snores in this courtroom will be held in contempt," he shouted.

"What time do they take the noon adjournment?" I asked my neighbor.

"Twelve-thirty. Are you coming back this afternoon?"

"Not if I can help it."

"You'd better. They say Mayor Thompson is going to take the stand."

I replied, as so aptly did Ralph McMillan, the Boston baseball reporter, when informed there was a rumor that Hal Chase had killed himself—

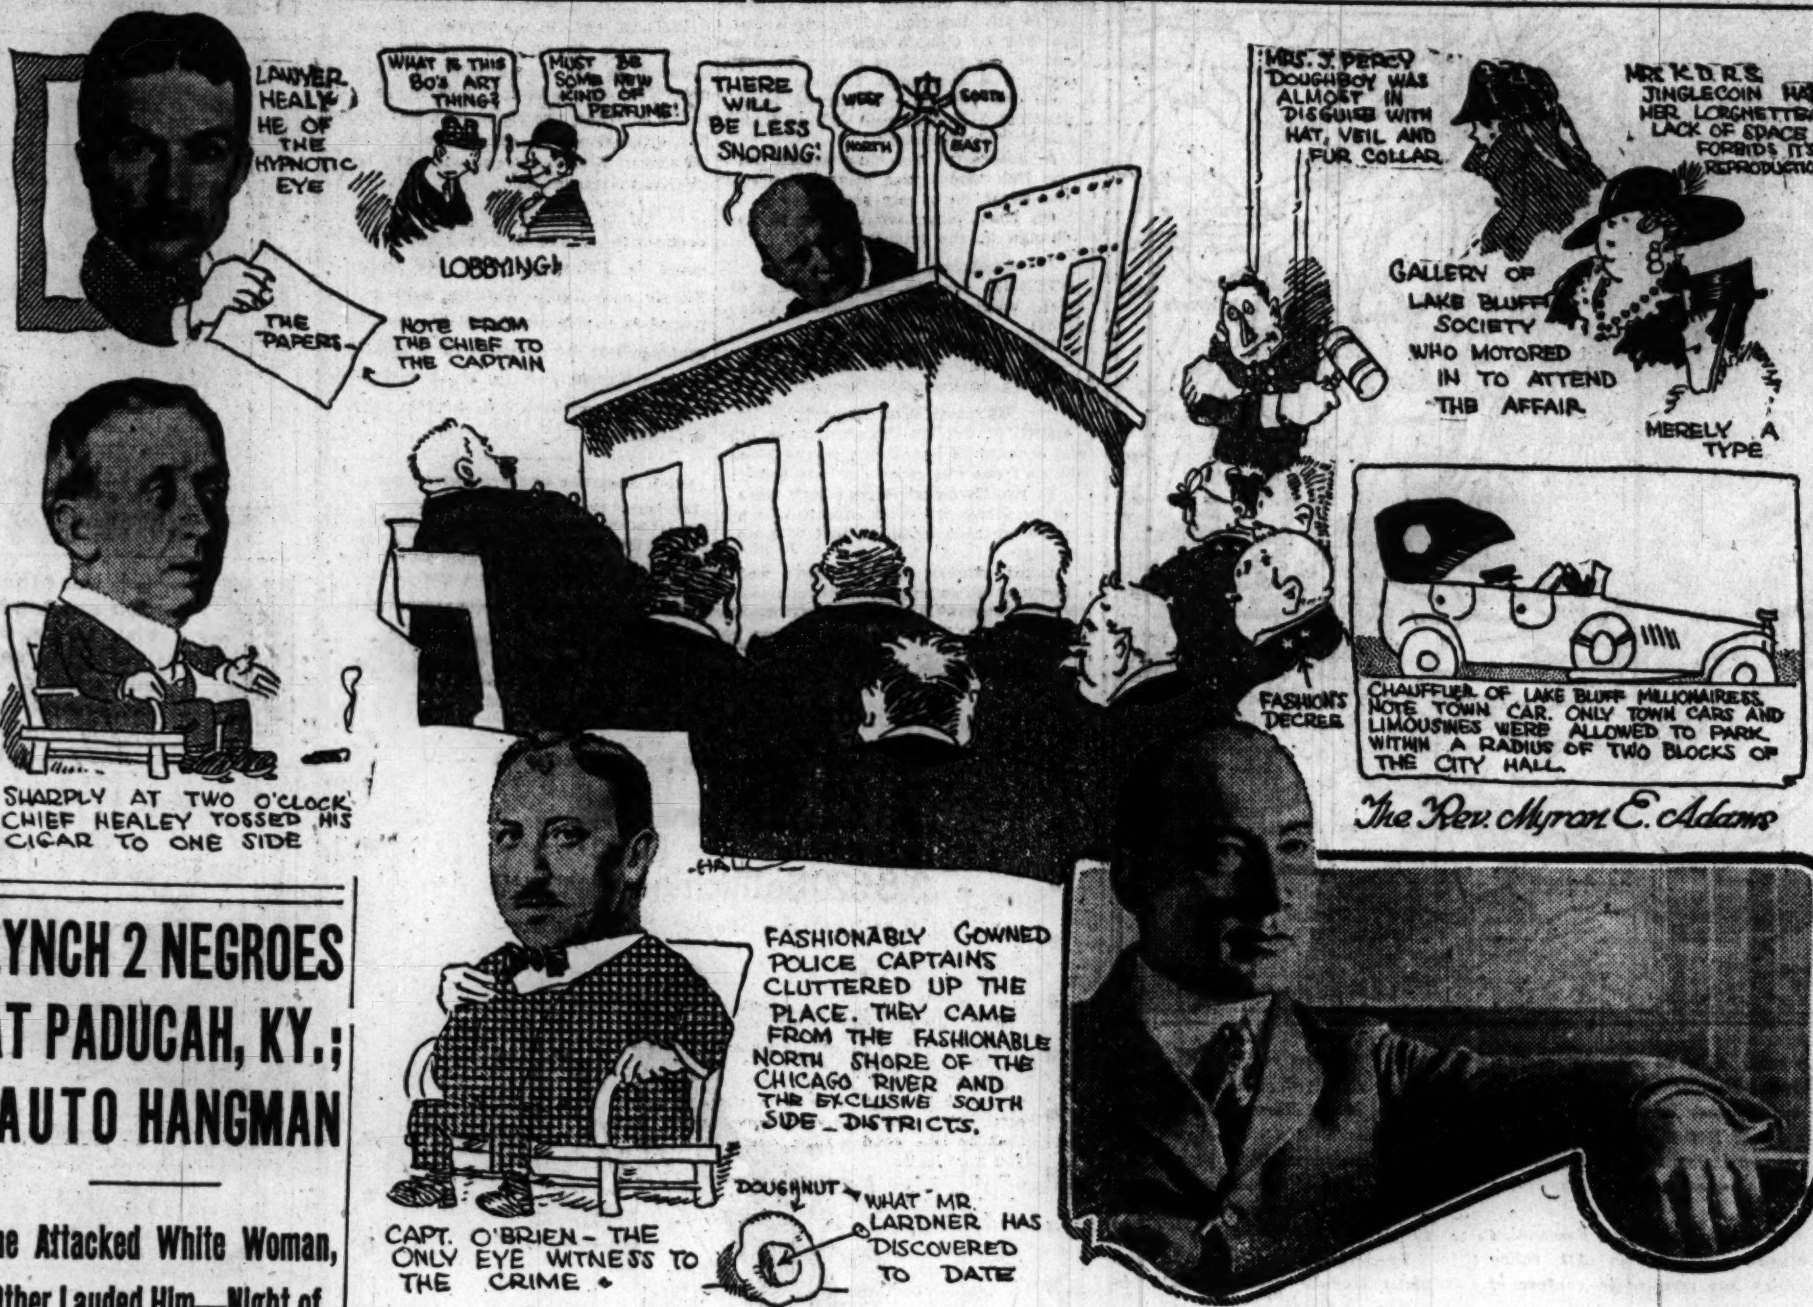

"What of it?"

"I did not go back in the afternoon, but I am going back today, and I am going to take my sewing with me. Others who expect to attend are advised to take something. Popcorn is said to be good as a preventive. Just plain chewing gum constitutes a service."

"I am not going back because I want to. But I have been advised to find out what was done and who did it. And I didn't learn yesterday."

LYNCH 2 NEGROES AT PADUCAH, KY.; AUTO HANGMAN

One Attacked White Woman,
Other Lauded Him—Night of Terror from Street Mobs.

A cheery telegram was received by "The Tribune" last night, signed "Citizens of Paducah, Ky.," bearing this message:

"Lynched and burned two negroes here today. Sorry you can't get their bodies."

The telegram is interesting as indicating the spirit of good will thereabouts toward "The Tribune's" anti-lynching policy.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Paducah until late tonight was practically under martial law, as the result today of the lynching of two negroes, one for an attack on a white woman and the other for expressing sympathy for and, it is said, lauding the accused man.

All saloons were closed and the local police force was augmented by additional deputy sheriffs, sworn in in the anticipation of trouble from employees of a local railroad who threatened a race war.

The workers were incensed over the outrage committed by Brock Kenley last Friday on Mrs. George Rose, 20 years old, wife of one of their fellow employees.

Just before midnight, however, crowds which had thronged the streets went to their homes to be definitely eliminated. None of the several hundred persons composing the mob which hanged the negroes has been arrested.

Mob Storms the Jail.

The lynchings came after five hours' labor on the part of the mob trying to gain entrance to the cell of Kenley.

While the mob was at work James Thornhill, mere boy, expressed sympathy for the man behind the bars, and he was seized and held by the mob.

The crowd gathered about the jail at 7 o'clock when it was learned Kenley had been arrested. The mob demanded the prisoner, refused to heed the appeal of the officers in charge of the jail, brushed aside the guards, and battered down the jail door, but found the prisoner had been locked in a steel cell.

Failing to find the keys, they sent for a locksmith to cut the bars.

All this time Kenley was cowering in the corner of his cell, but when an opening was made large enough for him to emerge he was ordered out. The negro was marched down the street and informed he was to be lynched if Mrs. Rose identified him. The cavalcade proceeded as it proceeded.

While Kenley was taken into the Rose home the leaders of the mob resolved to hang Thornhill. Pleading for his life, the boy was bound, taken to a tree, a rope thrown over a limb, his neck encircled in a noose, and an automobile hitched to the other end.

In a few minutes it was announced Mrs. Rose had satisfied herself as to the identity of Kenley, and he was led to the same tree and the process repeated.

Bodies of Negroes Burned.

After assuring themselves that both negroes were dead, the members of the mob lowered the bodies and placed them on a blazing pile of brush.

It is estimated that more than 6,000 people witnessed the executions, hundreds of them mounting a railroad trestle in order to get a better view of the proceedings.

STONE CRASHES THROUGH WINDOW OF DRY SPECIAL.

Plate Glass Shattered on Ira Landrith and Party Aboard Train Just Outside Fort Wayne, Ind.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 16.—A missile, probably a stone, hurled violently by an unidentified man, crashed against the rear window of the Dry Special train observation car just outside Fort Wayne, Ind., tonight, shattering broken plate glass over Ira Landrith, the Prohibition vice presidential candidate, and other members of the party, but injuring no one.

For a time it was believed that the train had been derailed upon, Landrith and Mrs. Oliver W. Stewart of Chicago, and Frank E. Herrick of Wheaton, Ill., at first thought they heard a report of a gun.

Earlier in the day at Greensburg, Ind., a man had yelled from the crowd that Landrith "ought to die."

Landrith was undecided tonight whether to accept the stone thrower, J. Frank Henly, the presidential nominee, who was in a drawing room of the observation car when it was struck, was convinced that only a stone had been hurled.

SEES PEACE ONLY IN EXHAUSTION

David Starr Jordan Says
War Cannot End in Victory on Either Side.

"The European war cannot end by one nation wearing down another. The only hope for the end of the struggle is the day when the belligerent kingdoms have completely exhausted themselves."

So said David Starr Jordan, noted pacifist and chancellor of Leland Stanford University, before a meeting of the Women's Peace Party in Kent theater at the University of Chicago yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Jordan has been in Europe since the opening of the war and is the greatest American authority on the present political turmoil. He has been in every one of the warring countries, except Russia, and has been the guest of nobility, legislators, and scholars from the largest continental universities.

Loss of Men Greatest.

"The loss of India by England is a small item compared to the loss of men that she is suffering," said Dr. Jordan.

"The picked half million of young Englishmen are in the trenches, the scholars from Cambridge and Oxford, at home in London in the slums are 100,000 men unfit for war, the results of other wars. To these diseased, drunken, and poverty stricken citizens is left the task of building up the English nation, of producing the children that are to rule England, to carry her industries and her commerce."

Tragedy in the Future.

"The tragedy of the war is not the loss of life at present, but the status of Great Britain in twenty years when the children of the dregs of the London slums and of the ruined and nerve wrecked soldiers grow to manhood and try to do the work of the present generation."

CLAD IN BLUE, HEAD TO TOE, THAT'S CARUSO. BACK TO U.S.

Clothes of Tenor, Arrived for Opera Season, Create Sensation When Liner Docks at New York.

New York, Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The war, election, submarines, and all other current topics were forgotten this morning when the French liner Lafayette docked. It wasn't the presence on board of as many notables as have crossed the ocean since the Lusitania disaster that caused the lapse, but a symphony in blue standing on the promenade deck.

The symphony was more other than Enrico Caruso, whom many Metropolitan opera singers had come to greet. Blue spats, a blue suit, blue overcoat, blue tie, blue cap, and blue gloves! Nothing black but his shoes and a MUSTACHE! This latter was a young thing, but its wearer volunteered he would part with it before the opening night of opera.

Among the passengers were Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, John Barrett, Frank A. Munsey, and S. S. McClure.

The liner while in midocean received warning by wireless to look out for German submarines and approached the American coast far southward of the usual route.

TRIAL OF ERA BOND HERE

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 16.—The Minnesota Supreme court today dismissed the appeal of Era Bond, Minneapolis broker, from a decision remanding Bond to the custody of the sheriff for delivery to Chicago officials, who want him on charges of being connected with an automobile stealing syndicate. Gov. Burroughs has already granted Bond's extradition.

Axel Anderson, known as the "powerful Swede," died at his home in Hammond early yesterday from a toothache. He has lived the thirty-one years of his life without being sick a day until last Wednesday, when he was laid up with an ulcerated tooth. Blood poison set in and caused his death. He came to this country six years ago and has been unloading pig iron in the malleable iron industry ever since.

"When the personality of men is forgotten, the work of William Jennings Bryan in forming the 'cooling off' treaties and his work formulating the peace for an international body of investigation the cause of every war before it can take place, will be considered a great achievement in American history."

SHE PLAYS MOTHER TO FIVE.

Girl of 11 Found Looking After Five Small Shivering and Crying Children.

Six small children, a girl of 11 years being the oldest, were found hungry, shivering and crying in their home, 3822 "Parrell" avenue last night. The oldest girl was mothering the little group and doing her best to appease their bawling for food with promises that "pa and ma will be right home; don't cry," when the police arrived.

The children are Mary Dowdies, 11 years old; Joseph, 10 years old; Margaret, 7 years old; Patrick, 5 years old; and Esther and Lucilla, twins, 3 years old.

"Mamma and papa left early this morning, before all of us were up," said Mary, the eldest girl.

GERMANS MASS TO SMASH ARMY OF ROUMANIA

Blister Mountain Battle Rages
in Transylvania—Teutons Lose Three Villages.

(BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.)
LONDON, Oct. 16, 3 a. m.—A dispatch from Bucharest to the London Times, regarding operations in the Transylvanian theater of the war, says that the Germans, taking advantage of the position of the Roumanians, who have been compelled to withdraw several divisions in order to reinforce the Dobruja front, have assembled about ten divisions and are violently attacking the Roumanians. "Owing to the crushing superiority of their heavy artillery and machine guns," the dispatch says, "the Germans have succeeded in driving back the Roumanians, who are powerless to face the long range guns, although the unseasoned Roumanian troops have tried to stand the fierce fire. They have counter-attacked all the time, but have been compelled to withdraw to their own territory."

Whip Hand with Roumanians.
"They are occupying a line in the Carpathians, which the Germans now are attacking with all their strength. The Roumanians, however, possess a strategical advantage, as the chain of mountains can only be crossed at a few passes which the Roumanians have fortified strongly during the last two years."
"Most of the Torzburg pass has been captured by the enemy and the Germans now are making desperate efforts to break through the Pradel pass into Buzau valley."
"Possession of the first pass would give the Germans control of the rich Prahova valley, which is of enormous importance on account of oil fields, while by penetrating the second pass they hope to capture the important railway center of Buzau and cut communication with Bucharest, Galatz, and Moldavia."
"Confidence, however, prevails that the Roumanians will be able to hold their own and the threatened danger will be averted."

Roumanian War Report.
That the Roumanians are putting up a most stubborn resistance is indicated in the official war report sent out from Bucharest today. The communication chronicles the capture of three villages and the repulse of the Germans at many points. The report follows:
On the northern and northwestern

IF your windows are closed you invite tuberculosis and pneumonia—the dread diseases from which nine thousand (9,000) people died in Chicago last year. Closed windows are weakening, depressing, debilitating, dangerous, and in many cases FATAL.

IF (on the other hand) you open your window you are made miserably uncomfortable and risk chills, colds, sore throat, rheumatism, and other serious ills. Many people are so susceptible to drafts that they find them as dangerous as the poisons which result from closed windows.

BUT you can have a constant supply of FRESH AIR in every season with entire comfort and safety by using the Berry Window Ventilator, which admits FRESH AIR but excludes drafts, rain and snow. You can install it in a few minutes with a screwdriver.

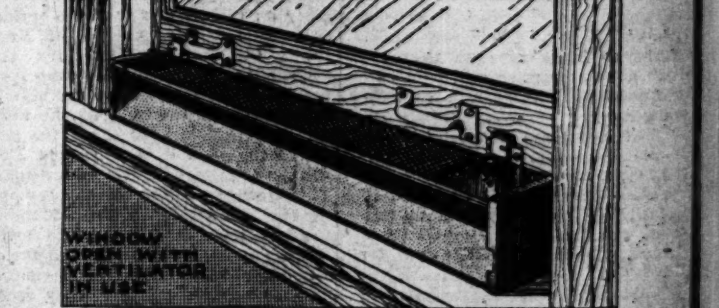

Although tens of thousands are now in use, although it has been a tried, tested, proven success for four (4) years, we now announce a radical reduction in the price of the

BERRY WINDOW VENTILATOR

Orr & Lockett, former exclusive agents, have gone out of business, and as a result the manufacturer is able to sell these ventilators direct to you, eliminating the middleman's profit. The price was formerly 40% more than that now asked.

We are now selling Berry Ventilators from an exclusive Berry Ventilator store at 18 East Jackson Boulevard. Phone Harrison 915.

The Berry Window Ventilator is collapsible, operating like an accordion. It opens and closes with the window. It does not interfere with the operation of the window, and when not in use lies flat on the inside of the sill—out of the way. The amount of air admitted is easily regulated by raising or lowering the window.

The Berry Window Ventilator is indestructible, and cannot get out of order. It is made with non-rustable metal, heavily enameled and finished in oak and mahogany.

How to Take Measurements

Close window—measure on the inside all from window step to window step, as close to window railing as possible. The "window step" is the perpendicular strip that holds the window in place.

Berry Ventilators come in sizes of three inches apart from 17 inches to 31 inches. Any of these sizes will fit window openings that are any part of three inches wider than the length of the ventilator.

Same price for one or one thousand except to charitable institutions. Dr. Berry, the patentee, having stipulated that they should be able to buy ventilators at cost.

If, for any reason, you are not pleased with the ventilator, you may return it within two weeks and get your money back.

MAVERS RETREAT OF ROUMANIANS WAS ORDERLY

Writer at Front Calls Transylvania Move One of Strategy—Cites German Menace.

BY STANLEY WASHBURN.

(Special Cable Service from London Times.)

WITH THE ROUMANIAN TROOPS IN TRANSYLVANIA, Oct. 15, via Amsterdam and London, Oct. 15.—The Rumanian troops west of Brasov (Kronstadt), which began an orderly retreat on the evening of Oct. 8, passing through Brasov during the night, today are taking up positions in the foothills of the western entrance to the Prut. With the long western front which the Rumanians had to defend, and facing an increasing number of the enemy, it was deemed wiser not to expose the advanced positions to sudden reverses. During the retreatment, the army was not even in touch with the Rumanian troops, the movement having been made quietly and entirely without panic or the slightest demoralization among the Rumanians.

I have seen the positions, which are twelve miles from the summit range. The nature of the country is such that the Rumanians should hold it.

Cites German Menace.

While the situation at present is not acute, the aspects of it emphasize the potential menace which the massing of heavy German strength against Rumania might involve.

It is well at this time that the western public should realize the extraordinary importance Rumania is to the entire cause. Apart from any question of sentiment, German occupation of this country would give them great oil fields and a rich agricultural country filled with resources which in an important measure would offset the effect of the British blockade which is just beginning to pinch the central powers.

The failure of the Germans on all fronts this summer and the forthcoming depression make it a matter of extraordinary importance for them to secure certain advantages and restore waning prestige.

Germans Aim Decisive Blow.

The advantages of invading Rumania and the dangers of permitting Rumania to hold passes from which to threaten the Hungarian plain make it manifest that the enemy will make every effort and exercise every ingenuity to mass sufficient troops on this front to strike a decisive blow against the little country.

It is a matter of speculation what force the Germans will be able to bring up. It is possible with the approach of cold weather farther north that they may be enabled to shift formations here from the northeastern fronts.

BRITISH AND ITALIAN SHIPS COLLIDE AND THEN BATTLE

Amsterdam Report Says Both Sea Fighters Were Damaged in Fight During a Fog.

BERLIN, Oct. 16. [By Wireless to Sayville.]—"A British and an Italian warship, in consequence of a fog, collided in the Messina channel, between the mainland of Italy and the island of Sicily," Amsterdam reports say, "says an item given out by the Overseas News agency. 'The ships shelled each other and one was damaged heavily. A British armored cruiser was towed to 'Naples.' Details are yet unavailable.'"

The Associated Press reports that an explosion occurred on the Italian battleship Regina Margherita, while it was in port at Spezia, Italy, says the Overseas News agency.

The sister ship of the Regina Margherita, the Benedetto Brin, was damaged by an explosion in September, 1915. Several hundred of its crew, including Rear Admiral de Carvin, were killed.

The World For Sale

By Sir Gilbert Parker

The author presents the varied and sharply contrasting elements of life in the Canadian Northwest with an effect that is at times both dramatic and panoramic. It is a story possessing a cohesive, well developed plot, and it has in notable degree the contagious thrill and vigor of the life in the region of which the author writes, and which he knows so well.—Philadelphia Press.

Miss Benton Says She Has That Disease Caused by Falling Through a Walk at Wilson Beach and She Wants Cash for Alleged Lost Beauty.

Miss Beatrice Benton

Just think of it! Twenty-five thousand dollars' worth of beauty destroyed! At least that is the way Miss Beatrice Benton, an actress, views an alleged injury which she sustained while strolling in her bathing suit last July at the Wilson beach. She began suit against this corporation in the Superior court asking for this much money. Only the precept was filed.

According to Scott Austin Cavetto, her attorney, Miss Benton, who played Intoxication in "Experiment," went for a swim last July at the Wilson beach. She strolled down a board walk to the edge of the water. Her attorney alleges that the board walk was in bad condition and, as a result, the actress fell through the planks and seriously injured her leg.

"Her beauty was destroyed," said her attorney, "and, what is more, she lost all her contracts for the summer, for she couldn't walk around the stage. She not only hurt herself severely but she has now chronic osteomyelitis."

Successful Applicants for Officers' Group Will Be Taught to Fly at Government Expense.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16. [Special.]—Plans have been prepared by the aviation experts of the army for the organization of a military aviation reserve corps.

Congress appropriated $15,000,000 for the development of a real military aviation corps, to cover all branches, including a signal officers' reserve corps. FRENCH ATTACK WINS NEW TOWN FROM THE ENEMY Troops Gain Possession of Houses Along Important Bapaume Road.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—French forces tonight are firmly established in both Bailly-Sailly and are holding a number of houses along the Bapaume road, after capturing these positions in hard fighting last night. The official report says:

North of the Somme last night we penetrated the village of Bailly-Sailly and occupied houses along the Bapaume road as far as the central cross roads. The enemy took violent counter action.

South of the Somme we repulsed a German attack at St. Elol wood, southeast of Belloy-En-Santerre.

Today we consolidated ourselves in Bailly-Sailly, despite a lively enemy bombardment. To the south we repulsed a violent counter attack east of Berry-En-Santerre. We captured a small wood with two guns of 210 millimeters and one of 77 millimeters between Genesmont and Ablaincourt.

British Official Report.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The official communication from British headquarters in France issued tonight reads:

It is confirmed that the losses incurred by the enemy last night's attacks upon our positions at Schwaben redoubt were heavy. Our losses were very light.

In the neighborhood of Neuville St. Vaast our heavy artillery and trench mortars carried out an organized bombardment on the enemy's lines. Good results seemed to be obtained.

German Official Report.

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—British troops yesterday attacked the German positions northeast of Guesdecourt, three miles south of Bapaume, and penetrated the German first line, but the ground was recaptured after a counter attack, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters staff. The text follows:

A British attack made northeast of Guesdecourt penetrated our first line trenches over a small portion of the front. This ground was recaptured.

The French made an attack on our positions west of Sailly. They were driven back to the south of the village by a fresh counter attack.

In the Argonne and on both sides of the Meuse artillery fire was revived at times.

The American aid squadron, of which Mr. Prince was a member, had been detailed to protect the French bombardment machines which flew in a night raid to Oberdorf, Germany, dropping bombs on the Mauser factory. The Americans, in their light, swift fighting machines, fought off German aeroplanes which arose to attack the bomb carrying fleet. Prince remained aloft, protecting the bombing fleet and fighting Fokkers. Shrapnel inflicted a wound on his head. Before he regained his aviation field loss of blood as weakened him that he was unable to alight with his usual expertise, and struck an obstacle on the darkened field, wrecking the machine and breaking both his legs.

Dr. Morton Prince and Charles Prince, both uncles, were summoned to the hospital, arriving in time to witness the decoration of their nephew before his death.

Russians and Teutons Renew Heavy Fighting in the South

BERLIN, Oct. 16.—Strong attacks were made by the Russians yesterday in Volhynia, west of Lutsk. Today's official announcement reports that these assaults broke down with severe losses for the Russians. The announcement follows:

West of Lutsk in the Zubino-Zurva sectors strong enemy attack, delivered after intense artillery preparation, broke down with severe enemy losses.

Local attacks made south of the Brody-Lemberg railway line and on the Grabarka plain also failed. On the Marayurka, between Lipnia Dolna and Skomorkyn, important Russian forces made an attack in deep file formation. The attack was unsuccessful. We inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

Repel Slavs in Carpathians.

On the front of Archduke Charles Francis in the Carpathians, German battalions beat off counter attacks while extending their success on Smotrec mountain and made prisoner three officers and 361 men at Coman.

Bavarian troops took by storm several Russian trenches. East of Kirovograd, Oct. 16.—Heavy forces of Teutonic troops have assumed the offensive south of Dorna Watra, in the southern Carpathians near the junction point of the Rumanian Transylvania and Bukovina boundary line, the war office announced today.

Hard fighting continues in Galicia, east and south of the Lemberg district, without either side making advances, says the statement, which also reports the repulse of strong attacks farther south in the region of Korymne and Kiriababa, northwest of the Dorna Watra region. The Russians took nearly 1,200 prisoners. The statement reads:

In the region of Korymne, stubborn fighting continues. Enemy counter attacks were repulsed with heavy losses to him. The enemy used hand grenades charged with asphyxiating gases.

Teuton Attacks Repulsed.

In the region of Zborov (on the Tarnopol-Krasna railway in Galicia, east of Lemberg), obstinate battles continue. North of Stanislaw (south of Halicz) the enemy attempted to advance from his trenches, but was driven back by our fire.

In the region of Korymne and Kiriababa the enemy launched fierce attacks without success. We took prisoner seventeen officers and 1,170 of the rank and file.

South of Dorna Watra, the enemy assumed the offensive with great force.

AIR BATTLE WOUND FOUND CAUSE OF PRINCE'S DEATH

Chicago Polish Fighting for France Decorated with Legion of Honor Just Before His Death.

PARIS, Oct. 16.—The death of Norman Prince of Boston, former Chicago club member and polo enthusiast, who died Sunday in a hospital in Alsace, resulted from a blood clot on the brain caused by a wound sustained last Thursday night from German anti-aircraft artillery, it was learned today. He was decorated with the Legion of Honor and promoted to the grade of lieutenant just before his death. His is the third American aviator to be killed fighting for France.

The American aid squadron, of which Mr. Prince was a member, had been detailed to protect the French bombardment machines which flew in a night raid to Oberdorf, Germany, dropping bombs on the Mauser factory. The Americans, in their light, swift fighting machines, fought off German aeroplanes which arose to attack the bomb carrying fleet. WILSON ASSERTS DEMOCRACY HOPE OF PROGRESSIVES

Says Opponents Seek Only
Control of U. S. Money and Its Military Backing.

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 16.—President Wilson today told a delegation of independent members of the Wilson Volunteers that the Democratic party is the only instrumentally now at hand for the enactment of "genuine, humane, just, and progressive legislation."

The members of the delegation came here to tell the president they planned to campaign for him "from the Battery to Buffalo," in New York state, because they felt he had given the nation "a square deal."

Wilson Arraigns G. O. P.
The president declared the time has come for America to "unite her progressive forces." He said the leaders of the opposition want only three things: "the scalp of the present controller of the currency," John Skelton Williams; to get control of the banking system of the country; and to put the army and navy of the United States back of their financial enterprises in Mexico and throughout the world.

"The problem that America has had to face for some time," said the president, "has been to unite and organize her progressive forces. They have been present in the nation for a long time. They have been running like underground currents. They have been asserting themselves here, there, and elsewhere in sometimes unexpected quarters, but not until four years ago did they disclose their public policy."

The 1912 "Progressive" Vote.
Reminding the presidential vote of 1912, which he called "striking," the president said that of the more than 25,000,000 votes cast 10,000,000 were cast for the progressive candidates and programs of the campaign, represented by the Progressive and Democratic parties. Of the remaining 5,000,000 votes only 3,500,000 were cast for the Republican candidate, "a most extraordinary manifestation of the desire of the people of the United States to move forward along new and constructive lines in respect of their public policy."

Democracy Made Good.
"Now, since then," continued President Wilson, "this group in the Democratic party has had an opportunity to show the country whether it meant what it said or not, and it has shown that it did mean what it said, that it was a genuine progressive force ready to do the things that it had promised to do.

"The opposition can run their desires in three propositions. To put it as they would put it, they want the scalp of the present controller of the currency—I can only conjecture because for the first time in many years he has obliged the banks to obey the banking laws; knowing him to be honorable, knowing him to be efficient, I can conjecture no other reason. In the second place, they desire to get control of the new banking system, and in the third place they wish to put the army and navy of the United States back of their financial enterprises in Mexico and throughout the world.

"In private this is what they avow. It ought to be avowed in public and it summarizes as compactly and neatly as need be summarized the general purposes of the leaders of the three and a half millions.

Voters Not in the Plot.
"I want to say in passing with regard to these three millions and a half of my fellow countrymen that I do not believe them to be in the plot. I believe them to have been misled by ancient prepossessions, by old prejudices, by inveterate habits of voting from which they have been unable to break away. But the purpose of their leaders is patent to every one who has studied the annals of recent legislation of this country.

"Here then we strike the essence of the campaign. An instrumentality of enlightened legislation, genuinely democratic in spirit, is if their suggestions are accepted, to be replaced by men who have no public objects except the objects of spoliation.

"Can any one wonder what thoughtful men in such circumstances are beginning to see, that we are facing the most critical choice, the most critical political choice, that has been made in our generation, because we are now to choose, the time being as any rate, the very character and foundation of our government?"

Mrs. Kaufman had it all fixed up for her daughter to marry the star boarder, but she failed to count on her daughter's heart—and on her own. "Ice Water, Pl—!" by Fannie Hurst is the story of a boarding-house keeper whose ten years of listening to that endless paeon of the lodger ended at last in a double romance. In this week's

DEMOCRATS PLAN BIG POWWOW FOR WILSON'S VISIT

Leaders from All Sections of West to Meet President in Chicago.

Believing that Illinois is now a doubtful state and that Democrats have a chance of carrying it by a hair, national leaders are flocking to Chicago to make every minute of President Wilson's visit Thursday count for votes.

National Chairman Vance McCormick came in yesterday. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, the president's son-in-law, will be here today. Lesser lights are coming from all parts of the country to get behind the "nonpartisan" meetings and try to turn them into land swells for Wilson and the whole ticket.

While the day is labeled "nonpartisan," Democratic chiefs understand the "nonpartisan" tag is merely to shield the president from the appearance of making a stump campaign.

Mrs. Wilson to Take Part.
Accordingly, everything done in three meetings Thursday, if leaders' plans are carried out, will be built on the sole proposition that there are votes to be gained. Mrs. Wilson is coming with the president, and she will be given prominence in the day's program.

The president and Mrs. Wilson will arrive in Chicago at 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning, direct from Shadow Lawn. They will go to the Blackstone for luncheon and rest and then the president will go to the Chicago Press club, in the City Hall Square building, where an informal reception will be held.

At 4 o'clock the president and Mrs. Wilson will go to the Auditorium theater, where he will address an audience of women. Mrs. George Bass and other Democratic women workers are placing high hopes on the effect of this meeting.

"He kept us out of war" is counted on to stir this meeting in such a manner as to aid the Democratic cause in all states where women vote. Mrs. Wilson will occupy a box in the theater with a number of Chicago women, who will act as hostesses.

The big night meeting will be at the stock yards, where the president will direct his remarks almost exclusively to naturalized citizens. The meeting is under the auspices of the New Citizens' Allegiance Celebration committee, of which Judge Clarence Goodwin is president.

Democratic managers hope Foles, Slava, and other "foreigners" will congregate in large numbers at this meeting. The president is to speak on citizenship and patriotism, and it is the confident belief of party chiefs he will be able to send a thrill through the ghetto and melting pot district that will help not only the Democratic national ticket, but both the Illinois and Cook county tickets.

McCormick Summons Aids.
National Chairman McCormick has summoned national committeemen and field workers from all over the west to confer with him here. They will listen carefully to what the president has to say all day Thursday and will return home at once to caution spellbinders as to just what should be the final oratorical blasts.

Mr. McCormick was highly pleased with what he found when he reached Chicago.

"Of course," he said, "in the short time I have been here I haven't been able to digest all reports to me, but I am impressed by the fact my advisers from everywhere indicate that Progressives and independents in countless numbers are aligning themselves behind the president.

URGES CUT IN SUNDAY ISSUE TO CONSERVE PRINT PAPER.

Federal Trade Commission Puts Proposition Up to Big Publishers and Asks for Suggestions.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Reduction in the size of Sunday newspapers as a means of conserving the news print paper supply of the country and possibly preventing the suspension of all newspapers was recommended in a letter sent today by the federal trade commission to all the publishers of large Sunday newspapers in the United States.

"The commission asks your cooperation in this matter," the letter says, "and would like to know your attitude toward this proposition. The commission would also appreciate any suggestions that occur to you regarding practical ways of making this proposal effective."

HEAVY SNOW IN MICHIGAN

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 16.—The heaviest snowstorm of any fall in the last ten years prevailed in this section of the copper country today and at noon two inches of snow had fallen. All shipping was forced to seek shelter and Lake Superior was deserted by boats near this port.

Whose fault is it if you pay twice for your letters?

It's your own fault, if you persist in paying twice for every letter—once in shorthand and once on the typewriter.

Ever think of that? Likely not, else you wouldn't go along, sticking to a system that not only wastes your money, but your time and your stenographer's. And brings a string of exasperations and annoyances in its train. And ends up by not giving you finished product—typewriting—in the quality and quantity you have every right to expect.

You will never correct these conditions as long as you stick to shorthand. The fault is in the system—not in the individual.

If you wish to cut the cost of letter writing at least a third; to dictate conveniently and comfortably, day or night, before or after hours, without having to give a thought to the human limits of any stenographer:

If you are ready to use the system that enables your typist to produce steadily—without interruptions for shorthand dictation; and produce far easier, free from the eye and nerve strain of shorthand, and yet write more letters; better and more accurate letters:

You are ready to dictate to The Dictaphone.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 16.—Charles E. Hughes, replying to the charge that his election might mean that "invisible government" would be installed in the United States, tonight told an audience that he believed in government through constitutional agencies.

"I believe in government through constitutional agencies," Hughes said. "I believe in government through the recognized officers of government according to the intent of the constitution and the statutes. I think, indeed, it might be said that the present administration has been in large measure an administration of unofficial spokesmen, of mysterious influences, and of mysterious influences."

"And I can say, in entire good humor, that I desire government through two houses and not three."

"Surrender to Force." Mr. Hughes assailed the administration more vigorously than he has done before for the enactment of the Adamson law, declaring that it was "un-American and absolutely without justification ever to surrender either legislative or executive power to the demand of force, either by capital or labor."

President Wilson's reference to "un-American" made in the same hall during the president's recent visit here, was answered with the declaration that there had been no "classification of the anti-trust act" and by the administration's assertion that he was "amazed at any such claims as these have been put forward."

"The administration's Mexican policy was cited as answer to the declaration that there had been no 'classification of the anti-trust act' and by the administration's assertion that he was 'amazed at any such claims as these have been put forward.'"

"Avoiding a Problem." What Mr. Hughes characterized as the administration's "weak and vacillating policy" was attacked.

"Some one told me today," Mr. Hughes said, "and it seems a throw to me in the case, that the motto of the present administration is 'a problem avoided is a problem solved.'"

The nominee faced a house that gave him a three minute cheer of welcome. Every seat was taken, and all the standing room in the rear of the hall was crowded, many deep. In the galleries at the far end of the hall, there were at times confusion and interruptions, which the nominee took in one instance to mean an attempt to heckle him on the Adamson law.

"There has been a whisper back there in the gallery," Mr. Hughes said, "of some one, I think, who wants to know my views on the Adamson law. I don't propose to leave here till I tell him."

Attack on Rail Law. The nominee reiterated his attack on the administration for the enactment of the law, closing his speech with it.

"It is a time for taking account of stock and ascertaining what is really for the best interest of the American people," Mr. Hughes said, "when we attempt this critical examination, we are met with various pleas. I confess that I am not only surprised but amused at the character of some of these pleas."

"For example, it is now said in substance that if I am elected that it will result in installing invisible government. The fact that I was an opponent of invisible government was my title to public confidence, and it was because I was an opponent of invisible government that, not according to my liking, indeed, against my desire, I was nominated for the presidency of the United States."

Cites New York Record. "I know that we are in constant danger of subversion of the principles of

KERN, FEARING A FRAMEUP, GETS VOTE FRAUD INQUIRY.

Senator Suspects That New and Taggart Plan to Go Into Cahoots Against Him.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—From authoritative sources it has learned today that the investigation now being conducted by the department of justice in Indiana into alleged registration frauds is not caused by the fear that the Republicans will attempt to vote thousands of southern Negroes, as was reported, but because Senator John W. Kern fears that he is being set up by a frameup.

For some months rumors have been current that a frame-up was being executed by which Harry S. New, Republican candidate, and Thomas Taggart, Democratic candidate, would be put over for the senatorial positions in Indiana.

Senator Kern always publicly discounted these rumors, saying that he did not believe any Indiana Democrat had reason to believe him in private.

McCORMICK LAYS HIGH EXPENSE OF STATE TO DUNNE

"Keynote" Charges Extravagance to Democrats and Demands Home Rule.

Madell McCormick, Republican candidate for congressman at large, yesterday opened the Republican state campaign in Chicago with the "keynote" speech at the Garrick theater.

To a packed house Mr. McCormick made Gov. Dunne's record as to appropriations and alleged extravagance the theme of a discussion which, he declared, was in no way personal, but based solely on facts and records which any one could dig out.

He particularly criticized Gov. Dunne for his attitude toward home rule for Chicago with reference to the control of public utilities.

Home Rule Lost Under Dunne. "It was under the present state administration," said Mr. McCormick, "that Chicago lost its control of its public utilities. Since the enactment of the present utilities act the people of Chicago have demanded restoration of the authority taken from them. I know of no authoritative voices in Chicago which have spoken in approval of the state regulation of our local utilities, save those of the able administrator who dominates the utilities and his counsel."

"I do not allege that candidates of the democracy are void of good intention or of high purpose; but I say that the record is against them. The city of Chicago joins in demanding a drastic and business-like reform of worn out, wasteful, and ineffective methods."

Plays High Appropriations. On the question of appropriations Mr. McCormick said: "Four years ago the Democratic candidates in Illinois denounced the extravagance of preceding Republican administrations. 'If I am elected governor I will stand for the abolition of public extravagance and the elimination of all useless offices'—so spoke the candidate for governor."

"The appropriations by the Forty-seventh general assembly—the last under the governor's predecessor—aggregated $30,000,000. The appropriations by the Forty-eighth general assembly—the first under the present administration—amounted to approximately $38,000,000, or an increase of $8,000,000 a year."

"There was a tendency which called for all the authority which inheres in the governorship held by a believer in retrenchment. There was time to plan for absolute action before the meeting of the Forty-ninth general assembly. The governor did not criticize the increase in expenditures. He approved it in the following language: 'While I regret the apparent increase in appropriations for the ensuing year, I believe it is necessary for the state to meet its obligations for the coming year.'"

NUTSHELL POLITICS

Jottings on National, State, Local Candidates and Events

L. D. Bland, editor of the Union Leader, official organ of the street and elevated railway employees' union, has issued a statement inquiring what Attorney Mackay Byrne is asking union men to vote for him for his part in the arbitration board that gave the men an increase of pay last spring.

The Dry Chicago federation opened the battle yesterday to make Chicago a dry town in 1918. Richmond P. Johnson of Alabama was the speaker at the round-up at the Hotel La Salle. He declared that liquor is killing 700,000 persons annually, and that after Chicago goes dry the whole world will follow suit.

Former Gov. Deneen takes the stump for the Republican ticket at Streator Thursday night, and then takes the plum. I believe it to be my duty to state that in the aggregate they are unavoidable and that in their distribution they will be applied to purposes which are bound to meet the approval of the people.

Take Another Leap. "But the budget of estimated expenditure presented to the Forty-ninth general assembly amounted to over $45,000,000, an increase of 50 per cent over the $30,000,000 appropriated by the Forty-seventh general assembly and denounced as extravagant by the candidates of the Democracy four years ago."

"I would not have the members of the general assembly evade their meager share of responsibility for the increase, although the assembly appropriated less for the current expenses of government than was asked by the state administration. The governor must shoulder the chief responsibility; indeed, almost the entire responsibility for the increase."

DUNNE AND LOWDEN ENGAGE IN HEATED WORD CONTEST.

Republican Candidate's Voice Gives Out, but Friends Reply to Governor for Him.

Monmouth, Ill., Oct. 16.—(Special.)—Col. Frank O. Lowden's voice, given in a speech this afternoon when the Republican candidate arrived in Monmouth tonight, Mr. Lowden was unable to reply publicly to the charges that Gov. E. P. Dunne made this afternoon. Col. Lowden was informed of the character of the speech that Gov. Dunne had made and authorized the statement that he had intended to make.

Gov. Dunne, speaking at the courthouse this afternoon, repeatedly thrust forward the allegation that Col. Lowden would name a public utilities commission that would be handled by "big business."

Col. Lowden in his statement said: "Gov. Dunne has all he can attend to in answering for his own appointments without speculating upon what mine will do." Col. Lowden said. "He talks about big business. It seems to me that is better than no business at all. A governor may listen to the suggestions of his friends, but he necessarily does not have to be dictated to by his friends."

Gov. Dunne's reply to Madell McCormick's criticism of his extravagant administration is: "You voted for the appropriations."

Chicago's first opportunity to behold James Hamilton Lewis in action in many months will be afforded today, when he and Gov. Dunne speak at the noonday meeting in Cohan's Opera house.

TODAY IS LAST CHANCE TO GET ON POLL LISTS

Party Managers Will Drive for Big Registration—New Ruling by Scully.

Campaign managers are out today to roll up a registration that will give Chicago a total eligible vote in November greater than that of New York City. If women register in as large numbers today as is anticipated New York's male registration of 738,000 will be exceeded by Chicago's total by many thousands.

Leaders estimated last night today's registration—the second and last chance to get on the books—will run around $50,000. If it does it will give Chicago a total enrollment for the fall election of approximately 820,000, or about 85,000 more than New York.

Those who have moved this fall but who will have been in their present precincts thirty days prior to Nov. 7 are entitled to vote and are cautioned to get their names down today if they have not done so by Oct. 17. Some judges thought the thirty-day count before today, but this view is erroneous. Special attention was called to the fact, too, that first voters who will be 21 years old on Nov. 7, but who will not reach that age until after today may register today and vote.

The polls will open at 8 o'clock this morning and close at 9 o'clock tonight, and every man and woman who lets the 9 o'clock hour go by without having attended to enrollment will not be permitted to vote on Nov. 7.

County Judge Thomas F. Scully issued instructions to judges and clerks which has particular reference to the women voters.

Heretofore women have been permitted merely to state that they are of voting age without giving their exact ages. The new instructions extend this privilege, but on the questions as to how long they have resided in the United States, state, or county they are required to answer in exact years.

Many Democratic leaders, however, have informed clerks and judges that if a woman says she is of legal age and born in the United States she may be required to answer "all my life" to the question as to how long she lived in the state or county without giving her exact age.

The attempt to protect women against divulging exact ages has led to some confusion, but Judge Scully's new ruling is that she must answer the exact years she has lived in the country after stating that she is of a voting age.

GAIRDNER'S 'MYSTERY-GIRL' WEDS MAN WITH A 'PAST.'
Anna Stearns Becomes Bride of Thomas B. McCarthy, a Reformer Ex-Convict, in Detroit.

The incident of the Rev. R. H. Fortesque Gairdner and his efforts to behalf of Miss Anna Stearns, "the mystery girl," was closed again yesterday when Miss Stearns (also known as McCarthy) became the bride of Thomas B. McCarthy, the son of a prominent family, an ex-convict, and, like Anna, reformed.

"We both have a past," said Mrs. McCarthy after the ceremony in Detroit. "We are both thankful for the opportunity to live it down."

POLITICAL NOTES BY WIRE.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—Morris F. Sweet, Democratic candidate for governor, has come out squarely in favor of prohibition. His stand on this question is made in reply to a letter addressed to him by Charles W. Garfield of Grand Rapids.

BROCKTON, Mass.—Former Gov. William L. Douglas, who had been urged by party leaders to make the race as the Democratic candidate for the senate against Henry Cabot Lodge, announced he had definitely declined to run.

SOLDIERS GOT RELIEF FROM SORENESS.
Boys on the Border Relieved Their Pains and Aches with Sloan's Liniment.

Once upon a time Norman Jones, serving in the National Guard at El Paso, returned to camp after a strenuous 15-mile hike foot-sore and leg-weary. He had not been long in active service and his shoulders, back and limbs felt the after-effects of marching.

Remembering Sloan's Liniment, Jones applied it to the sore spots and went to bed. He writes: "I awoke the next morning feeling fine; in fact, I had entirely forgotten about the hike and went out for a four-hour drill in the sun as spry as ever."

Private Jones passed the experience along, and many a boy on the border relieved the agony of sprains, strains, swollen, insect bites, cramped muscles, rheumatic twinges, etc., by the use of Sloan's Liniment.

Easily applied without rubbing. At all druggists, 25c, 50c, and $1.00.

CUNNEA'S RIVALS TWO OF A KIND, HE TELLS VOTERS

Hoynes and Miller "Bunk and Bluster" Campaigns Disgrace, Socialist Says.

"The bunk and bluster of the campaigns of Hoynes and Miller," said William A. Cunnea, Socialist candidate for state's attorney at the Empress theater last night, "is at last bearing its legitimate fruit. Their present plight is an indication of the truth that even the people will turn."

"Hoynes and Miller, who succeeded in cleaning up a reputable candidate for state's attorney at the Republican primaries, have, in their lust for the emoluments and powers of the state's attorney's office, broken their former bond and are engaged in throwing dirty rinsings one at the other."

"This spectacle would be amusing were it not for the fact that the fair city of Chicago has become bespattered and stained before the world as a city without civic honesty and corrupt to its official core."

Merit Law Violations Ignored.
"We may gauge the lack of sincerity by the Hoynes and by the Miller offices, as regard law violations, when our attention is called to the wholesale violations of the civil service law by the city administration in the appointment of 30,000 persons to temporary positions under the sixty day rule."

"When we remember that the total number of city employees is but 20,000 we can see the magnitude of the violations in the attempt to build a political machine with the taxpayers' money. These violations were connived in by the state's attorney."

"And here and now, let it be understood, I declare myself in favor of the bona fide enforcement of the civil service law, not only in its letter but in its spirit. Efficiency in city government demands it."

Law Violated in Country Towns.
"We may question the sincerity of Hoynes in his stealthy, midnight methods for the alleged purpose of uncovering the crime and showing the connivance of the city administration in the non-enforcement of the Sunday closing law, when it was well known that through the county outside of Chicago, and within the jurisdiction as chief prosecuting officer, saloons are allowed to keep open on Sunday in many cities without protest. Gambling in the form of baseball books is running wide in outside cities, although it has been suppressed in Chicago."

Laborer's Body Identified.
The body of a man found in the south branch of the river at West Thirtieth street Saturday was identified at the county morgue today as that of John Warko of 1834 West Thirtieth street, a laborer.

Seminary and Clifton avenues," said Dr. Dubig, "when I heard three shots and a cry for help. I turned my car and hurried to the scene, where I found Dr. Roberts on the ground. I asked him what the matter was."

"My daughter has shot me," he said. "This seemed strange, but I had no time to discuss it with him. I took him in my car and drove to his office. Then I called Dr. Elmer, and while we were waiting he told me of his family difficulties. He said the girl must have become unbalanced because of imaginary wrongs of which she believed I was guilty. When Dr. Elmer came we drove with Dr. Roberts immediately to the hospital."

Tells of Family Trouble.
S. Kohn of 2761 Florence avenue, a friend of Dr. Roberts, corroborated the story of the family difficulties. "I have known the three Roberts brothers for a number of years," said Mr. Kohn. "This one was in the Canal Zone for some time with the United States medical department. He and his wife have been separated for about four years. When he went to the Canal Zone Mrs. Roberts and their daughter went to live with her people."

"In September, 1914, B. J. Roberts, a brother of the dentist, took poison in a building he owned at 738 Fullerton avenue. He was despondent, though his business affairs were in good shape. Then Dr. Roberts returned from Panama and took over his brother's business. All were dentists."

"The third brother is a dentist in Waukegan. He is Dr. Norman J. Roberts."

The girl who did the shooting had not been found by the police at a late hour.

Business Meeting Concludes Time
Is Not Yet Ripe—Parks and Library Might Lose.

At a business meeting of the Chicago Woman's club yesterday it was decided that the time is not ripe for the consolidation of local governments in Chicago. Voters were urged to cast their ballots against consolidation.

"It was the unanimous opinion of those present," said Mrs. William Lyman, chairman of the efficiency committee, "that until we get a reorganization of the central government it would not be for the best interests of the parks and public library to have the control of finances in the central governing municipal unit."

"The parks would have to compete with the police department, the fire department, water and light departments, etc., and it has been the history of such struggles that the so-called 'luxuries' always suffer."

"Then there would be some 7,000 positions which would be part of the spoils system and the employees would be under the antiquated civil service rule of 1895, instead of the more up to date state rules of 1911."

SOCIETY and Entertainments

Happenings in the Smart Set.

AFTER much pleasant anticipation the Lake Forest friends of Mrs. Charles Edward Brown were permitted a "view" Sunday afternoon of the new portrait that has been painted of her by Nicolai during the last summer. Mr. and Mrs. Brown received their friends for tea, and presiding at the tea tables were Mrs. Frank Hibbard and Mrs. Durant Cheever of New York City, who has been spending some time in Lake Forest because of the infantile paralysis epidemic in the east. Mrs. Cheever is planning to leave for New York on Wednesday.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Volney Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atkinson, Mrs. Edward Pollock and her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Edmonds. The portrait was hung where the light might best display its coloring and the artist seemed to have the host and hostess and listened to the many compliments for both the portrait and the model.

Mr. and Mrs. Finley Barrell of Lake Forest have bought the old Clayton Mark place, which has been admired only for the beautiful grounds since the burning of the house some time ago, and are planning to build a new home there within the near future.

MARION HARLAND'S HELPING HAND

Poem and Author's Name.

"I SHOULD be deeply indebted to any one who will send me the poem 'Weaving the Web.' And who will also give the author's name?"

J. L. J.

Referred. The poem promises to reward the reader who recalls it and to be worth keeping of the one who hopes to find it through our Corner.

Suggests a Way Out.

"In a late issue of the Corner I read with almost painful interest the letter that may shed a little light upon her shadowed pathway? Why not take a course in dreammaking and women's from Mrs. C. D. May I offer a suggestion? I will let her have the address of a reliable firm, if she will send me a stamped, addressed envelope. She might learn in her own home."

"I. H." As is her wont, our faithful reader is ready with practical wisdom. By the way, an admiring Cornetist asked me if Mrs. I. H. is kept thus on hand for every conceivable emergency. She backs the idea up in the present instance by suggesting that the artist be sent to be mistaken. She is fully aware of the cardinal truth that it is better to be thoroughly competent to do one thing well than to have a smattering of six trades. Her address is at the call of the writer of the ad, but not strange story.

Collecting China Set.

"I should be glad to communicate with some one who has a set or part of a set of Haviland china purchased in 1892. The decoration is a delicate lavender spray. The dinner plate, for example, has a small spray in the center and six sprays around the rim. Perhaps we can be of help to each other."

China collectors and connoisseurs are invited to reply to the query of one of the guild. Her address is in our books.

Words of Old Song.

"If M. E. H. still desires a copy of 'An Order for a Picture' and will drop me word to that effect I shall be more than glad to send the poem to her. It was written by Alice Cary, and quite long, or I should copy it now. Will some one send me the verses of the old song beginning, 'I saw the young bride in her beauty and pride, bedecked in her snowy array'?"

F. C. C.

Name for Girls' Club.

"Will you kindly suggest several names for a girls' club. We prefer an Indian name, if you know of any. There are eight of us."

Why not, "The Octave" or "The Octagon"? Or, choose some word that is distinctive of your neighborhood or of the leading object of the club work, and send it to the department of Indian affairs in Washington, D. C. In these days of erudition and frequent marital discord, how few girls, reared as she was in luxury, ever keep young and happy and hopeful under the strain of near poverty and the cares of a home and a clamorous little brood of four?

To Brighten Plush.

"Kindly let me know through the Corner how to brighten up plush. In the stitching it became wet, which left an ugly spot. How can I remove it?"

"A."

If you would raise the nap, hang it in the bathroom, turn on the hot water, and let the garment remain in the steam (door and window closed) until the atmosphere is clear and cold. Do not touch the plush until it is perfectly dry. This should remove the spot left by water. If it is rusty in color I fear you will have to dye it.

He's a Persistent Youth.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have a boy friend whom I have been going with for about five months. He is nice and good looking also, but for some reason I cannot like him as well as I do others or as I might. I'm sure he likes me, because he calls me every day, always wants to come and see me, and also tries to tell me what to do. What do you think of the situation? That is something, Jennie, they will have to decide for yourself. I think, if you aren't fond of the boy, of course, it isn't fair to him to encourage him. You must be giving him some encouragement or he would not be so persistent. You wouldn't want any boy to treat you that way, would you, now?"

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! See if tongue is coated, breath hot or stomach sour.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "Fruit Laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well-playful child again.

When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "mild cleanser" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

Society Special Dodges Gotham.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Determined to avoid any possibility of danger from the infantile paralysis epidemic in New York, 120 members of official and resident society who have been spending the summer on the north shore chartered a special train, which left Beverly Farms yesterday afternoon and reached Washington by a circuitous route at noon today.

The Washington colony on the special included the Italian ambassador, and Mrs. D. C. Collier, the Argentine ambassador and Mrs. Naon, accompanied by their children and members of the embassy; Mrs. Joseph Leiter and her two children, together with her parents, Col. John R. Williams and Mrs. Williams; Mrs. Frances Gibson and her two children, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Hill, Mrs. Hewitt of St. Louis, Mrs. Henry Rousseau, and others.

The "society special" chartered for the home trip was made up of two baggage cars, a diner, and seven sleepers.

Brownleigh Club to Meet.

A musical and literary program will be presented at a luncheon of the Brownleigh club Saturday afternoon.

Real Love Stories

Love and Reverses.

To many this may seem an ordinary love story, but to me, who have seen this love grow, it is beautiful.

A girl, lovely, tall, and of wealthy parents, Edith had two ardent suitors—one a professional man, rich by inheritance; the other just a boy with a good salary. She chose the salaried man because she loved him. That was twelve years ago. In that time four children have come and financial reverse after financial reverse, including the loss of her legacy from her father's estate. She has learned to perform all her household duties and to do all of the family sewing because of necessity. And always at night she meets him

His Friends Are Disappointed.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl of 17 and just returned from boarding school. There is a young man who wishes me to go at night to the theater and then to the cabaret unchaperoned. Although he is perfectly respectable, some of his friends are rather dissipated. Please tell me what to do in this case."

"D."

Don't go with him, Dodo. I have my doubts as to his respectability if his friends are dissipated, and he would ask you to go to such places. There must be other men who are too nice to want to take you to such places and whose companionship in the long run will mean much more to your success and happiness in life.

The Propriety of the Thing.

"Dear Miss Blake: About two months ago I met a young man two years my senior and I like him. My parents also like him and he has called quite frequently."

"Now, Miss Blake, this young man is going away and I would like to correspond with him, but would it be proper for me to suggest writing? Also would it be proper for me to ask him to call should he happen to visit my home town, as I think he intends to do?"

"Please let me see your reply in the paper at your earliest convenience."

"G. D."

A Red Head? Be Wary.

"Dear Miss Blake: I was buying toothpaste the other day, when an attractive young girl came up to the counter beside me. She gave an order for toothpaste. I heard her name and address. Her name was my favorite. I want to call. Would she accept my advances? My business prospects are brightening. I am a clean and upright young man. She has red hair. Would she make a suitable mate?"

"X. Y. Z."

Knowing the red headed disposition as well as I do, my advice is not to call her up. I think you have a superabundance of nerve to think of calling up a girl under such circumstances. You may be clean and upright, but you can't prove it by that sort of action. Her's hoping your business prospects keep on brightening and that your better judgment anent conduct toward girls, especially red headed ones, brightens consistently.

Just What He Wanted.

"I received by mail a package of drafting instruments. They were received just five days after the request was published. I was agreeably surprised to receive the box. The instruments are as good as new and are just the things I have wanted. I have sent postage on them to the generous donor. Please convey my sincere thanks to the Corner."

Our thankful acknowledgments go out to the one from whom the splendid surprise was sent to the student.

THE first glimpses of new models in a design of gold thread, it is trimmed with bands of gold tissue embroidered with pearls and rubies. Motifs of jewels and a fringe of pearls accumulate the beauty of the tunic, which falls in long, slim lines over an undergarment of silk and tulle banded with heavy gold lace. Jeweled bands and pearl fringes land interest to the bodice, which displays a most becoming décolletage, and the narrow pointed train is a feature seen on many of the newest models.

The use of jeweled trimmings is seen in another charming model. In this instance the entire bodice is of jewels and in design suggests a beautiful South American beetle. The exquisite colors of the bodice are repeated in a skirt composed of many layers of chiffon. A narrow band of jewels forms the shoulder straps.

LANDIS NAMES RECEIVER FOR PRIVATE BANK

Tananevich Savings Institution
Depositors File Petition in Bankruptcy.

Efforts of John M. Tananevich to save off creditors of his Tananevich Savings bank ended abruptly yesterday with the filing by three depositors of an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the defunct institution and its proprietor. Judge Landis appointed the Central Trust company receiver.

Immediately upon the receivership, S. H. Vowell of the Central Trust and Jacob Ringier, attorney, journeyed to the bank building at 3249-53 South Morgan street and took possession. Estimates as to the resources of the bank vary between $200,000 and $800,000, while the liabilities are placed at approximately half a million dollars. Mr. Ringier said the depositors "will be lucky to get 50 cents on the dollar."

Lithuanian Depositors.
The bank has between 2,000 and 3,000 depositors, most of whom are Lithuanians. Of the three who filed the bankruptcy petition, one, Benedict Las Cewski, could not sign his name. He put his claim against the bank at $200. The claims of the other two brought the total mentioned in the petition to $1,500.

"I was told at the bank this afternoon that nothing has been paid to savings depositors since Sept. 25," Mr. Ringier said last night. "Tananevich has been enforcing the so-called sixty day clause against savings depositors, at the same time paying out on the checking accounts. Tellers said about $120,000 has been paid out on these accounts during the last three weeks."

Blames Pamphlets for Run.
"Tananevich, I understand, maintains that pamphlets attacking him have been distributed in the neighborhood and are responsible for the run on his bank. Otherwise it's the same old story. He has a printing establishment and a newspaper. The cost of the bank building is put at $125,000, and there also is some real estate in Riverside."

KEEP WORD OBEY! IN EPISCOPAL MARRIAGE VOW

Delegates Refer Back Report of Committee on Prayer Book Revision.

MORE PAY FOR MISSIONARIES

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.
St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—Brides who are wedded according to the rite of the Protestant Episcopal church during the next three years will have to promise to "obey" as other brides in the years past have done.

All hope for a change in the marriage ceremony was dispelled today by the action of the house of deputies of the general convention, which referred the report of the committee on marriage back to the commission on revision with instructions to report at the next general convention three years hence.

Other proposed changes in the marriage service which the committee had recommended in their report, and which must now lie over for three years, were the taking from the ceremony the words which the groom is required to say, "with my worldly goods I thee endow," and the references to Isaac and Rebecca as examples of marital faithfulness.

The committee was not agreed. The reason given to the convention for reference back to the commission, by the Rev. Dr. Edward L. Parsons of Berkeley, Cal., who was in charge of the report on the prayer book, was the inability of the convention to consider the entire report. Later he said the members of the commission were not agreed among themselves.

It is doubtful whether there will be any discussion over the shortening of the ten commandments, which were expected to excite a lively debate. The criticism in which the shortened form appears was referred with the report on marriage back to the commission, and the order for the holy communion, which the shortened form also appears, was sent back to the house of bishops with power to act.

The order for the burial of the dead, which is expected to be considered by the convention, contains proposals which it is thought likely will cause opposition to the report of the commission. The opposition, it is said, will be directed against the elimination of the first part of the commitment, which reads, "Forasmuch as 'with blessed Almighty God in His providence to take out of the world the soul of the departed.' The commission objects to the present form on the ground it lays the blame for the death of the deceased on God.

Many Changes in Hymnal.
The report of the joint commission on the revision of the hymnal was adopted after criticism had been directed towards two hymns which were said to lack the Roman Catholic interpretation of the sacraments and a warning had been raised against doggerel.

Criticism of two proposed hymns, Nos. 338 and 339, in the revised hymnal for "false theology," was made by the Rev. Dr. C. B. Bryan of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Rev. Dr. R. H. McKim of Washington, D. C.

"Our great bishop," Dr. Bryan said, "pleads for unity and peace. I am sure these hymns will not promote these ends."

The changes in the well known hymn, "Rock of Ages," was referred to as a failure to live up to the original by St. Thomas church, Washington, D. C.

Emancipated Doctrine.
Dr. Smith delivered a scathing denunciation against "emancipated doctrine" and "miserable doggerel."

"I attended a funeral of a member of the Baptist denomination," he said, "and there I found a hymn book in which lines of 'Nearer My God to Thee' were so changed as to substitute weak, emancipated doctrine for the original."

A FINE PLAY, EVEN IF YOU DON'T LIKE IT

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

MR. BARRYMORE'S playing in "Justice" last night at Powers' was, in my opinion, the best in kind that I have ever seen. For scrupulous veracity in thought and action, for imperceptible application of personal charm to a role devoid of it, the characterization was an unequivocal masterpiece, and the more a wonder-work because its performance demanded a sacrifice of all the qualities that have hitherto made the player eminent.

Mr. Barrymore's denologists and Mr. Barrymore himself, I believe, have selected for the altar and the incense that bravest fragment which he represents the torture of a prisoner in solitary confinement. It is indeed a grim epitome of all the dull agonies of the prison, and the more a wonder-work because its performance demanded a sacrifice of all the qualities that have hitherto made the player eminent.

Yet, to my way of thinking, Mr. Barrymore did a more difficult thing and did it better in the scene of the trial. There he sat in an obscure corner of the courtroom, a weak, beaten, scared victim of fate, waiting for the machine of law to crush him. He had nothing to do but to sit there and look baffled and despairing. He did all of that, perhaps, and in addition by powers almost unobtainable by the motionless, dominant translation and emphasis of Mr. Galworthy's indictment of Law and Society. The admirable eloquence and earnestness of Mr. Whitford Kane, as the advocate of the defense, the cold, sharp attacks of Mr. Thomas London, as the prosecutor, the unobtrusive photography of the stage direction, all were merely supplemental, to me, at least, of the story told in Mr. Barrymore's silence. Despite the sick, though honest, devices of the scene, the growing darkness, the lighting of the electric lamp, the dignity and imperiousness of the episode, all were no more than essential marks of punctuation in a tragic script.

While thus assembling the reasons for not attending "Justice," I must tell you how good Miss Martha Mann is as the unhappy married woman, for love of whom the pitiable lawyer's clerk (Mr. Barrymore) commits the forgery. You may recall her as the vendible lady who sold herself in "Today." She is even more persuasive in "Justice." You will note one particularly momentous moment in case you care to see. That occurs when the magistrate accuses her of glorifying in her relations with the prisoner and she says, "I do." You will, I am sure, like the way she says it.

Mr. O. P. Hargis, who plays the detestable "Andros," has the role of the quaint old chief clerk, Mr. Cokeson, who is such a human combination of expectation and reality.

"Come down out of that," commanded Beck.

"I can't," was the reply, "my wife spent $5 for a bottle of perfume and I must have time to think it over."

"Who are you and what are you doing up there?"

"My name is Thomas York and I'm working up here," replied the man up the pole.

"You can't worry up there," snorted the policeman.

"But I am worryin', though," retorted York.

"Say," called Beck, "somebody is nutty around here, an' I'm layin' ten to six it ain't me. What's the matter with you?"

BATTERY BOYS GET PERMIT TO COME TO COLLS

Belated Order Issued After a War Official Had Refused Privilege to Register.

EIGHTH RULING DELAYED.

Members of the Illinois national guard now stationed at Fort Sheridan waiting to be mustered out of the federal service will be permitted to come home today to register, so they can vote on Nov. 7.

The eleventh hour permission came from Washington last night after the war department had previously decided the men could not be accorded this privilege, holding that it would set a bad precedent.

The permission affects Battery C, D, E, and F, at Fort Sheridan. Gov. Dunne was informed last night by Gen. Thomas Barry, U. S. A., commanding the central department, at Chicago, that his request that the Illinois infantry boys, now in Springfield in camp, be given a furlough for the day to register had been forwarded to Washington.

Men to Come in Two Sections.
Before the final permission came from the war department to permit the Fort Sheridan troops to register, Col. Allen, in command at the fort, had announced the soldiers could run down to Chicago today, one-half coming in the forenoon and the other half in the afternoon.

Permission for the Fort Sheridan troops to take time to register was touched by Assistant Secretary of War Ingraham at Washington at a late hour on instructions from President Wilson at Shadow Lawn.

Earlier in the evening, according to Washington advice, Mr. Ingraham had flatly stated that military discipline would not permit furloughing the guardsmen, even to vote.

See Bad Precedent.
He is reported to have stated that it would be a bad precedent, and even though the men were to be demobilized before Nov. 7, they were still, technically, in the federal army, and it was contrary to the custom of the war department to permit soldiers to participate in politics.

It was pointed out that Secretary of War Baker, to whom appeals were sent in behalf of the guardsmen, is out of town and has been out of the city practically all the time since Aug. 1, campaigning for Mr. Wilson's reelection.

Denies Any Military Reason.
Officials of the war department insisted there was really no military reason for refusing the men to register.

Permitting the men to register, Assistant Secretary of War Ingraham said, would be a bad precedent, and even though the men were to be demobilized before Nov. 7, they were still, technically, in the federal army, and it was contrary to the custom of the war department to permit soldiers to participate in politics.

First Cavalry to Start FOR SPRINGFIELD TODAY.

Two More Weeks to See Col. Foreman's 1,000 Men Mustered Out and at Home.

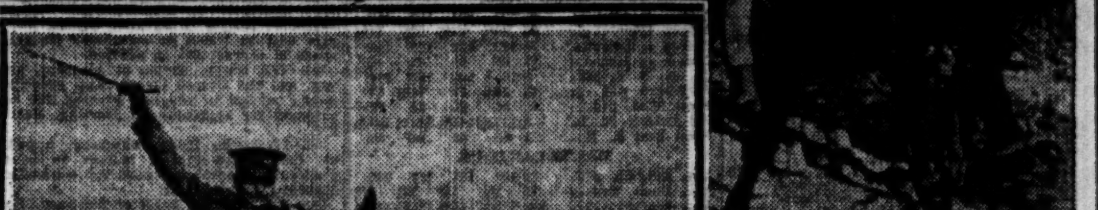

Brownsville, Tex., Oct. 16.—[Special.]—The Illinois cavalry will be headed for Springfield and within two weeks after their arrival there the members will be with their families and friends, mustered out of the federal service after four months of able and willing service in the interest of Uncle Sam.

Tonight 1,000 Illinois troopers are slumbering aboard tourist sleepers, ready for the trip north.

Ample accommodations have been arranged for the men and horses. "We came down here comfortably, we were comfortable in camp, and we are going back home comfortably," said Col. Milton J. Foreman.

Capt. McEvers on His Horse Pedro, Taking a Hurdle.

When Miss Margaret Haley appeared before the schools committee of the city council, which is investigating the dropping by the board of education of sixty-eight teachers, she told of some experiences which Mrs. Ella Flagg Young had with members of the board of education.

Mrs. Young, former superintendent of schools, in Chicago, and told her own story yesterday, although she said she will not go before the council committee.

Mrs. Young implicated William Rothmann, former school trustee, in an attempt to prevent the advancement of one teacher, and she said that President Jacob M. Loeb was the messenger bearer from Mr. Rothmann. The teacher, according to Miss Haley's testimony, was Miss Mary Homan of the Burke school.

Mrs. Young was unable to remember the name.

The Story of the Note.
"It was just before a meeting of the school management committee," said Mrs. Young at the Hotel La Salle. "A note from Mr. Rothmann was placed before me asking me not to advance the teacher because she had written to a member of the legislature requesting him not to vote for the board's pension bill. I said at once that that was not a proper cause to prevent her advancement. The messenger was Mr. Loeb."

Shortly after, at the meeting, I presented the name of this teacher and told the committee about Mr. Rothmann's objection. Perhaps you would like to see the note? I said. They wanted to see it. The note was not among my papers and I telephoned to Miss Clement, my secretary, and told her where she would find it. After a painful silence and no note, I went to my office. The note was nowhere to be found.

Lacked the Evidence.
"That was the most trying ten minutes I have ever spent. I had accused Mr. Rothmann and I did not have the evidence. I saw a reporter near the door at the time. The note was placed on my desk, and I sent Miss Clement to him to ask him if he had seen it. He turned to Mr. Loeb and asked him for the note. Mr. Loeb took it out of his pocket and gave it to Miss Clement. When we got back to the committee room I said to Mr. Loeb, 'How could you hold that in your pocket when you heard me ask for it?' Mr. Loeb said he had a single track mind, that he had been thinking of something else, and had not heard me. I told him it would have ruined me if I had not been able to find the note. After showing the note to me, Mr. Loeb picked it up again and put it in his pocket."

Attempt at Discipline.
Miss Haley told the alderman also of an attempt to discipline Nano T. Hickey, one of the sixty-eight.

"It was a public apology they wanted from Miss Hickey," said Mrs. Young. After the meeting at which Miss Elizabeth Murphy was removed from the position of assistant superintendent, Miss Hickey went to Mr. Loeb and told him that he was the first Jew she had ever known who attacked a person because of her religion.

"He asked that she make an apology and I put it up to her. She laughed and said that Jackey Loeb had played in their backyard when he was a little boy. She decided not to make an apology, and I did not urge her. Then Mr. Loeb told me that he did not want an apology, and I knew that it did not bode well for Nano Hickey, but I did not think it would be mean that she would leave her job."

She's for Wilson.
Mrs. Young thought that she would not be able to vote, but was assured by Judge Sully that she would be eligible.

"I was unable to do that on account of speaking engagements in the east," said Mrs. Young. She will register now, however, and return to Chicago to vote for President Wilson.

Retiring President John H. Walker of Danville, Ill., recommended that organized labor repudiate Senator Sherman for his attack on Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in his annual statement.

VILLA DEFEATS FOES; RENEWS MASSACRES

Wins an All Day Battle—Kills Women and Children.

RAID NEAR U. S. BASE.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 16.—Across the plains of the borderland there falls once more the shadow of the arch-bandit, Francisco Villa. From refugees fleeing, as in the old days, before the depredations of the outlaws and from travelers fleeing the interior of Chihuahua these bits of news showing the ascendancy of the bandit leader in northern Mexico were brought to the border tonight.

Villa's recent attack on Cuahuluc was accompanied by a raid on Cuahuluc, which was Pershing's advance base last spring. Villa's men are in possession of Namiquipa, which was Pershing's advance base last spring. Villa's men are in possession of Namiquipa, which was Pershing's advance base last spring.

Carman troops numbering about 1,000 were defeated in an all day battle with Villistas in superior numbers Saturday at San Andres, Chihuahua.

Villa's men are in possession of Namiquipa, which was Pershing's advance base last spring. Villa's men are in possession of Namiquipa, which was Pershing's advance base last spring.

Horror Enacted at Cuahuluc.
Villa's attack on Cuahuluc is described by survivors in an article printed by El Democrata of Cuahuluc, reaching here today. The article, reaching here today, reports that the men in the massacre and the survivors told of the case of a woman who, because she had nursed the wounds of Gen. Garza, was said to have been shot and executed. Her new born child was soaked with petroleum and burned to death. Villa is represented as turning a deaf ear to all supplications for mercy.

"We are informed," says the paper, "that the people in the section are frightened to such an extent that they do not sleep in their houses, but seek refuge in the woods or the interior of mines."

Gonzales Hits U. S. Act.
Mexico City, Oct. 16.—Speaking for the government, Gen. Pablo Gonzales today gave replies to a representative of the Outlook magazine of New York to a series of questions on Mexican affairs and conditions and concerning the relations between Mexico and the United States.

With respect to the Pershing punitive expedition Gen. Gonzales said: "The effect of the advent of the expedition into Mexico has been bad in all respects. Instead of discouraging brigandage it has encouraged it. The rising of new bands, which are united in the disposition to combat the foreign invaders."

Villista Bands Reunited.
The remnants of the Villista outfit were revived and converted into patriotic crusaders, thanks to the Pershing expedition. The movement created among the Mexican people against the United States by the expedition is unfavorable—why, I do not think it necessary to say. With respect to the Constitutional government the effect has been to unify and solidify our people for the government more than ever."

Before the prospect of foreign war the Mexican people have demonstrated that they are with the national government. I do not in general approve the Mexican policy of President Wilson, for the fundamental reasons, which I hold in general, I believe, with all honorable men. Because his policy is not in the interest of Mexico."

"The United States can help us to restore normal conditions in Mexico without wounding our patriotic sentiments, by assuming the same attitude towards us as it does towards any other friendly country, by not placing obstacles in the way of our combating the disturbers of law and order, and by not preventing us from obtaining the goods which other governments obtain from the United States."

Give Carranza More Time.
Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 16.—Major T. H. Blum, assistant chief of staff of the United States army, appeared again today before the American joint commission.

Later it was intimated that the discussion by the joint commission of the various schemes for border control would not be forced by the Americans until a sufficient time had elapsed for Gen. Carranza to show the efficiency of his latest punitive expedition.

Toluca, St. Louis and Western.
G. K. W. St. Louis, Mo.—The Toluca, St. Louis and Western has been in a receivership two years. The company bought a majority of the stock of the Alton road in 1907 and leased the latter road in 1908 from bonds to pay for it. Later the Alton stopped paying dividends and the Toluca was unable to pay interest on the bonds. That brought the failure. Earnings in the year ended June 30 last were the largest in the company's history and sufficient to pay the interest. However, suit to foreclose is pending and, as the collateral is now worth only about 31 per cent of the par value of the bonds, there will be a deficiency of $6,000,000 to be met. Until this matter is adjudicated and settled the stock will be in a most uncertain position.

Sears, Roebuck & Co.
L. B. Negumee, Mich.—Sears, Roebuck & Co. has shown a steady increase in sales and profits ever since the present corporation was formed. The gross receipts of Dec. 31 last, 1915, were $30,000,000 of the $38,598,573 of assets to be "good will," patents, etc. This represents half of the common stock. Sales in 1915 were $108,882,102 net earnings $12,128,870. This figured out at 17.57 per cent on the average amount of stock outstanding. Sales throughout this year have been more than 20 per cent larger than last. Dividends of 10 per cent are paid. In April, 1915, a 50 per cent stock dividend was paid and 83-1-4 per cent in 1911.

Brief Answers.
E. K. R. and J. C.—Northwestern Elevated bonds can be sold at 86. The recent quotation slightly below that figure was an unnecessary sacrifice on the part of the seller. The bonds declined a little recently because a block of $20,000, was put on the market. The road earned one and one-half times its interest charges last year and is doing better now.

A. O.—Chicago Railway first mortgage bonds have risen in price a little because the bond market in general is on a slightly lower basis than it was some years ago. Chicago Railway's first kept above par in only one year, 1903. In 1910 they sold down to 90%; in 1911 to 97%; in 1912 99%. Few bonds show a steeper market record.

E. W. R.—The Consumers company makes public no official information except its annual report. Earnings are supposed to be better thus far this year than last because the hot summer helped the ice business. Last year the preferred dividend was earned and a small surplus.

H. C. M.—Stock of the Crow-Elkhart Motor company looks highly speculative. It has been reviewed heretofore.

Mr. Charles H. Ingersoll of New York

the man who made the dollar watch famous, said yesterday:—

"The 'Commonwealth Idea' is not after all unique, except in detail. It is based on a principle as old as the hills, and as sound as the rock of ages. It merely is one of the latest and most practical adaptations of the idea to our complex modern life. Realization of the 'Commonwealth Idea' will return two-fold dividends: First and most important, the proof that 125,000 people in 100,000,000 may readily be found who have faith in their ability to co-operate for their mutual advancement—what a power will such an army possess for other needed work! Second, the financial dividends, the social benefits and business gains. The $100 subscribed may not make the stockholder rich, but the cash dividends will be well worth while; and the service dividends, and the participation in a great co-operative movement will be a by-product that rarely accompanies a purely commercial proposition. This is the inspiration of all churches, all philanthropies, beneficial orders, all granges, all trades unions, and political parties; and all governments themselves are great fundamental examples of co-operation."

Mr. Ingersoll is President of the COMMONWEALTH HOTEL CONSTRUCTION CORP., which is to build, in New York City,

A Story of Modern Mexico

Peace and Quiet

A STORY of youth and high spirits, showing the love of a girl and a man, both full of the joy of life. An adventurous young American (just out of Princeton and on his way to his father's business) that he wants peace and quiet, but he is drawn to the right place—modern Mexico. He gets mixed up with revolutionists, smugglers, bootleggers, and finally becomes an officer in the Mexican army. And of course, the love affair in this dashing tale of thrills and romance is not peaceful either.
